ADVENT OF RADIO

AT COLLEGE
 Absolute quiet after ten at Smith College used to mean that there could be no contact with the world outside one's own room, but that interpretation has passed with the coming of the radio. Think of the joy of sitting up until eleven-thirty listening to music from New York or perhaps even Chicago!

The Radio bids fair to equal the popularity of the ubiquitous victrola. It has an untold advantage in the fact that it can entertain a limited few without disturbing people who do not wish to be entertained. The "grind" usually fails to distinguish between music and noise.

AN EXHIBITION OF SPRING FASHIONS

For her benefit victrolas must be played with pins, and necessary sound must be muffled. But the radio may play on.

The pioneer in this field of pleasure at Smith is Mary Barry 1925. Presented with a small radio by her brother, she was seen returning after Christmas vacation carrying a large box which was too precious to be intrusted to a porter or a taxi-driver. Curiosity was instantly aroused in the new toy, and a great many unscientific people were surprised to learn that it was not necessary to approach the College warden or fire captain for permission to erect an aerial on the roof of the dormitory. The aerial, constructed on a folding frame, may stand on a table or on the floor.

In spite of a very limited knowledge of the ways of electricity, she has succeeded in getting Springfield, Schenectady and Pittsburgh.
